

£650,000 to repair Wales' historic churches this Christmas

22/12/2013

The £16,800 grant awarded to the church will fund urgent repairs required to ensure the building's sustainability. In addition, the project will provide research opportunities on the church's graves and will enable the development of a new website.

The grant comes at a particularly poignant time for the church at the end of 2013. This year has marked the centenary of R.S. Thomas' birth, which has already been celebrated by a number of activities in the church, including the hosting of a literary festival in his name earlier this year.

Jennifer Stewart, Head of Heritage Lottery Fund Wales, said: "Places of Worship are a powerful, visual connection with our past and can be found in almost every town and village across Wales. Not only will our awards secure the immediate future of these particular buildings, it will also give the congregations the opportunity to adapt them, where necessary, so they can be enjoyed more widely throughout the community and in turn enable them be more enjoyed by many, for many more years to come."

Welcoming the award announcement, Archbishop of Wales, Barry Morgan, who recently gifted the R S Thomas crucifix to St Michael's Church, Eglwysfach, said: "At this time of year, we are particularly thankful for the support given to our places of worship in Wales and the HLF continuously provides this financial support. The eight churches are all grateful for the investment, but I am especially delighted that St Michael's Church has received a grant award during a year of centenary celebrations marking the life of R.S. Thomas."

Notes to editors

Grants for Places of Worship scheme

Listed places of worship in the UK of all denominations and faiths are eligible for HLF grants which support urgent repairs to the fabric of the building with a focus on projects costing less than £250,000. There is a two-stage application process with development funding available at Stage One to help work up proposals.

Under the new programme, applications can now be submitted for new capital works but these costs should cost no more than around 15% of the total overall budget.
