

Future-proofing heritage

28/07/2016

HMS Victory in Portsmouth

At HLF, we think the UK's heritage is precious. That's why today we're launching a new £8million annual investment programme that will help protect and sustain it for future generations.

In a challenging and constantly changing economic landscape, one where there is less public funding available, safeguarding our heritage is all about building resilience.

And through our new Resilient Heritage programme, organisations can now apply for grants up to £250,000 to undertake tailored activity to help them improve the way they manage their heritage.

If an organisation wants to build its fundraising capacity or tap into new income streams, a Resilient Heritage grant can help them secure the skills and knowledge needed. Or if a new business operating model or new approach to governance and leadership would help put an organisation on a more resilient footing, then we can help there too.

In fact, there are many ways in which Resilient Heritage grants can be used to help organisation secure our heritage. The programme is now open and more information about what we can fund and the application deadlines can be found on our Resilient Heritage page.

Organisations can also find out how resilient they currently are with our new online Resilient Heritage strength checker tool.

Live chat

If your organisation needs support to build capacity and undertake strategic change, please join us at 12.30pm on Thursday 4 August for a live chat in our Online Community where we'll answer all the Resilient Heritage application and assessment questions we can fit in an hour.

You might also be interested in...

HMS Victory at Portsmouth

News

Heritage Lottery Fund launches new £8million resilience programme

Today, the Heritage Lottery Fund (HLF) is launching a new £8million annual investment programme to help organisations and partnerships build their resilience.

28/07/2016